DANGER OF WAR NOT YET OVER

Negotiations Between Russia and Japan Dragging.

NEITHER PARTY WILL YIELD

SOMETHING MORE THAN A DIP-LOMATIC GAME.

Berlin, Oct. 17.-The negotiations between Japan and Russia, according to the view of the situation taken here, are not making progress. Each side, it appears from official information, will not yield on the essential propositions not yield on the essential propositions. Japan persists in requiring an agreement that shall not delimit their respective spheres of supremacy, and Japan declines to consent to the general policy of "drift" under which Russian influence will, the Japanese say, steadily bear upon Korea and edge forward until the time is ripe for acquiring a part of or the whole country.

Jazan, as previously cabled from

Japan, as previously cabled from nere is determined, according to the ferman view to have a settlement with German view to have a settlement with Russia by a treaty whereto they both must abide, or else—and the threat is ever in the near background—hostilities will begin. This is the danger in posin view. The Japanese government seemingly makes no particular concealment from the diplomatic corps at Peking of this immediate attitude, one impression being that Japan is merely playing a diplomatic game and another playing, a diplomatic game and another that the government is in deadly earnest. Russia's everincreasing military preparations in the far east and Japan's preparations in the far east and Japan's nearly completed equipments are regarded as pointing either to a settlement before December or to hostilities. Japan's orders for war material were placed in Germany a year ago and since then have all been delivered or are afloat. Four Japanese officers who have been buying war material and supervising artillery construction at Essen, left Germany for Japan last Tuesday. Prince Adelbert, third son of Emperor William, who has been ordered by the emperor to join the second-class cruiser emperor to join the second-class cruiser Bertha, attached to the German East Asiatic squadron, will embark at Genoa, Italy, on the Koenig Wilhelm, which sailed from Hamburg Thursday with thirty-one junior officers assigned to the East Asia station.

Refused Position With "The Storks"

MISS MADGE LANIUS.

MISS MADGE LANIUS.

Miss MADGE LANIUS is another Salt Lake girl who was offered during the week a prominent place with the company presenting "The Storks."

The offer was refused, as the parents of Miss Lanius hope to have her continue her musical studies for some years yet before attempting any stage work. The young woman is a pupil of Dr. and Madame Brodbeck and is considered by those who have heard her as a remarkable singer. She possesses a rich dramatic soprano, which is particularly striking in her higher notes. Miss Lanius will be seen here in "Cinderella" or "A Dress Rehearsal," which will be presented at the Theatre Nov. 21 by local society people under the direction of Mrs. Martha Royle King.

Mt. Pleasant, Oct. 17.—Considerable interest has been aroused during the past few days by developments at the oil wells west of this city. The drill of the boring machine is now in oil shale at a depth of about 400 feet, which gives the appearance of being of considerable thickness. From this those who are posted in such matters take considerable encouragement, as they look for either oil or gas beneath the strata of shale.

The company is now conducting negotiations with a trio of the most influential capitalists of the state, whose names are for the present withheld, who are apparently deeply interested in the developments under way and who show a disposition to either furnish the financial ald necessary for an immediate continuation of the drilling or

From this those who are posted in such matters take considerable encouragement, as they look for either oil or gas beneath the least for condition, and are now in the best of condition, and are now in the best of condition. And are doing most efficient work. There was some apprehension at the beginning of the year that the withdrawal of so many of the old teachers and the filling of the vecancies with new teachers would tend to injure the schools has not deteriorated in the least, on the contrary there has been a decided improvement, both the old teachers and the new manifesting such energy and skill as to bring forth the best results.

There is one difficulty, however, the overcrowded condition of a number of rooms. The board of education realizes this, and is taking steps to relieve the situation by fitting up another room in the pear that the withdrawal of so many of the old teachers and the filling of the veancies with new teachers would tend to injure the schools has not deteriorated in the least, on the contrary there has been a decided improvement, both the old teachers and the new manifesting such energy and skill as to bring forth the best results.

Parker—Enrollment 382; departments, 8; average number of pupils, 47 2-3.

Eugene Roberts, teacher of the fourth grade, Franklin school, took his pupils up into the hills today to give them a geography lesson from nature.

The eighth grade graduating class has a complete organization, and weekly meetings are being held. It is probable that the class will present a dramatization of Dickens' "Christmas Carols," when they graduate at Christmas.

The Franklin teachers have introduced a new feature into the school for the purpose of improving the composition work of the pupils, and supplementing the work in geography and history. In pursuance of the scheme pupils of the Franklin school, under the direction of teachers, are corresponding with pupils in other citles of the United States and Canada. Many of the pupils are taking considerable interest in the work and it is believe beneficial results will follow.
